

To Whom It May Concern:

Our country is going through enough regulations and problems at the moment. I don't think we need to change something that has been working well.

Business have been bogged down enough by government regulations and I would hope you would leave Christian Radio along.

As a person who donates every month so I can listen to Christian radio I would hope you would stop all these regulations and let us have our moments with our God on the radio station through Christian music.

If something works why do we always have to change it.

Respectfully,

Judith Hunter
